Thank Julie – I'll take a look at it. Yes, Rhonda was out with Pneumonia for the bulk of those 91 hours, but was not doing her due diligence to get better and get back to work (didn't go to the doctor for over a week and one day she was out sick, she actually went to Twin Falls because her husband's sister had a baby).

Summer, see what you think of this. I wanted to focus on the insubordination rather than attendance but let me know if you disagree.

She did use 107 hours last year but all but 10 hours was in the first ½ of the year. She only used 10 hours July - December. This year from Jan 1 to May 12, she has used 91 hours but most of that was legitimate with pneumonia wasn't it?

The few people I asked for documentation of what they witnessed/heard from Rhonda on 5-12 are off until tomorrow. I can make adjustments if needed after I hear from them.
