Yeah, I know... another example of why this isn't working...

Joni... I miss you but, I recognize I need to pull back and give you the space you need to get your head together. I'll give you your space. I'm sorry for letting my guard down and playing this afternoon... I let my emotions get the best of me and that wasn't fair to you; or to the us that was. I'll stop and I'm sorry... it isn't what we need right now. it's just all too fresh... I just need to screw the cap on my feelings down a little tighter.... I can do that, I know how. I'll do it tonight, please forgive me.

I am off to go get my truck and pick up [REDACTED]
I hope your evening is a good one.

Don't misunderstand... I cherish the time we've spent together. Like you, it's probably the only time in my life I could say that I'm truly in love with someone...but being in love...I crave time with you... I think about you always... I wish I was a bigger part of your life...

I want more.

I want to be your everything.

I want to share all of our lives together.

And, I know I can't ever take the steps to make it more until I close the door on my marriage and you do on yours. Since you are going to stay where you are at right now...I'm going to take steps to commit myself 100% to my marriage for the next few months...see what happens. If I'm still miserable, I'll be able to close the door and move on guilt free—no regrets....and then I'll be able to have a life that I dream about.

I'm not at a place right now where I can consider "what if I'm not miserable"...because I'm pretty miserable without you, and it's all consuming to me right now.

Guess what I mean is that my feelings are REAL for you...what we had is REAL.... But I want more.

I get that. I think it is called actually finally well and truly really being in love with someone..... What I need is for you to be happy.... If it is with [REDACTED], okay... I accept that and know it could have always come down to that... you're married, you made a commitment and I cherish the very special relationship we had. If it is with me.... then, I am prepared to wait just as I have been for that day. I do not view the last year and a half I guess the same way you do... I view it as a chance to get to know you as a person.... A real person.... I took every opportunity I had to experience life with you. Not just the sex... but, the talking... the walking, the sharing thoughts and dreams and goals and ideas.... The ability to just be myself with someone and for them to be them self with me. Yes, I needed and wanted more... but, having a part of you was far better than not having any of you. I do not see it as not being any closer after that amount of time.. I view it as getting closer to you each and every time we talked. No, it was not ideal... but it was real.

Was life complicated? Oh yeah.... did it suck leaving you each time? oh yeah... did I hate having to be careful? Yup....

But, the moments I had with you created the most special memories in my life.

I am willing to put the feelings back in the bottle you worked so hard to get them out of. I have almost done that finally..... I can close myself off... I know I can..... and, I know you can do it as well.

But.. I have the memories...

Drink water... drive on.

I don't understand how you can be so selfless and thoughtful when I know you are hurting just as much or more than I am.

I just know that I can't continue like we are... I need a REAL relationship with you. I need the uncommitted [REDACTED].. and you need the uncommitted Joni. I want to go on real dates with you and introduce you to my kids ..and meet your kids... and actually do things together...and not think about you being with someone else every night....

So, now I have time to figure life out while you are waiting for October (or later) too. Maybe things will open up for us to have something real and uncomplicated.

I hope so.

Maybe work will be a good distraction.

You're not selfish.... You're a person Joni... this isn't easy.... I am your friend regardless of anything else. I understand what you are doing and I know you're hurting as deeply and as much as I am. I understand.

Focus on the positives in your life..... focus on the opportunities you have, the career you're building , the life that YOU have made for yourself here... no one did this for you, no one gave you the opportunity... YOU made it happen... you found the job, you found the house, you pulled the program together and you're the one kicking butt with it all.... Joni.. YOU did this. You should be very proud of what you've shown you can do. Those are the things you need to focus on..... building your life, opening these doors and walking through them and providing a life for your kids that they and you deserve. Emotionally, you may be hurting... however.... You really should focus on the positives and possibilities that await you.

Don't look back..... keep moving.... .. as we said in the military... drink water; drive on.

Drive on my friend... drive on.. new adventures are awaiting just ahead.

Whether you and I feel right or not... I have that chapter in my life that needs closing before I pursue it. And, you know that's obligation. You have made your decision to fulfill your obligation until October (or whenever, I don't even know?) ...and I know I need some resolve to my end. I can't seem to get to the point of calling it done while I'm still involved with you. I feel guilty, as if I'm not giving 100%...which I'm not. I know I'm not, cuz I'm putting energy into you and me. I find myself thinking more about you than I do my own husband. I can't feel confident in my decision that my marriage won't work while I'm sharing my energy with someone else. I'm sure I'll come up with the same ending... but I can't seem to get to the ending with you having my heart and thoughts.

Now I'm rambling...I know you know what I mean.
Like I said...it's not what I want right now.

Yeah... I know that feeling... sometimes we have to do things we don't want to do in order to do what is right. Doesn't mean it's easy.. and doesn't always make us happy in the short term.

Something I learned a long time ago was that when we were trying to go down the wrong path or we are trying to force things to happen that weren't supposed to be, we'd know it pretty quickly if we learned to just listen to what we felt. If things felt right.... They probably were; if they didn't feel right... there was a reason. However, as humans I think we have a belief that we know more about what is right and wrong than the world around us. Sometimes we have to explore that void though in order to learn what we should have known before... we all make decisions for the wrong reasons and then regret the consequences. It hurts like hell when it happens but somehow we end up stronger in the end. Things work out the way they are supposed to....

Like we were talking about the other day, (seems like an eternity now).... Someone was going to get hurt during this process.... I knew it and thought I was prepared for it. You did what you did for the right reasons, I may not like it, but I respect why you did it. I still care about you deeply and the single most important thing is to see you and your kids taken care of and be provided for in the best manner possible. Everything else is secondary.
