That makes sense... it's the other one that's interesting. Wonder how much of that has to do with the injury she sustained? I can't help thinking about Gregston's question about the November All Staff meeting when staff brought up that violent juvenile behavior is on the rise and she asked for examples and Payne said nothing...

Monty's was an issue that had to do with his time away for military duty. When he was gone

His position state-wide got a raise, so when he returned, they adjusted his pay to coincide with his peers...

Not sure what's up with the other one...
